PREPARE REPORTS ON AMENDMENTS TO PEACE TREATY

Republicans Try To Agree On Reservations To Be Asked.

OPPONENTS ANNOUNCE DATES OF SPEECHES AGAINST TREATY

Senator Reed Will Speak at Akron Tomorrow In Answer to Wilson.

Washington, Sept. 6.—With the hearings by the foreign relations committee on the peace treaty closed, attention turned today to efforts of the so-called "mild" and "drastic" reservation advocates to reach an agreement on the form the proposed resolution, clauses and amendment should take.

In the meantime Chairman Lodge and Senator Hitchcock, leader of the Democratic ratification forces, were at work preparing the majority and minority reports, respectively, which they hope to have ready next week.

Republican leaders opposed to unreserved ratification of the treaty will begin a campaign of speech making in reply to the president Wednesday. Senators Johnson, Dorr and McCormick will address a mass meeting in Chicago on that date and Senator Johnson plans to speak at Indianapolis Thursday; St. Louis Friday, and Kansas City Saturday. Senator Reed will deliver an address at Akron, Ohio, Sunday and next week Senator Vadasworth will speak at Salem, N. Y. Senator Poinsett will address at Dunkirk, N. Y. Thus day and later will speak at Pittsburgh and New York City.

In announcing plans for the speech making, the Republican leaders said there was no intention "to trail the president" but that it was proposed to reply to his speeches made on the floor of the senate and elsewhere.

ACCEPT TREATY OR ARM TO THE TEETH

St. Louis, Sept. 6.—The United States will be the senior partner, the financial, economical and commercial leader if she joins the family of nations, President Wilson asserted last night in the fourth address of his 10,000 mile tour.

"If we reject the treaty, we will stand alone in the world," said the president. He asserted that only the United States could stand alone against the rest of the world.

The executive explained the proposed workings of the reparations commission, saying it would strike down the world industry and see that Germany paid her debts to civilization.

In the event that the United States should reject the treaty, this country would become a virtual nonentity in the financial world, declared the speaker. Remaining out of the league meant a large standing army, munition factories, fortifications, which would make higher taxes a virtual necessity.

He warned that if this country remained out of the league and stood alone it must do so as a nation in arms, and if the United States intended to prevent the world from being torn to pieces by the world intercommunal war.

Declaring the covenant one of arbitration and discussion, the president said the United States would be turning traitor to the men who won the war if she refused to enter the league.

The president reminded the audience that men in the service had been told they were fighting to end future war, and it this country failed to join the pact she would not be fulfilling her pledge.

Wilson invited those who oppose it to prove whether they "are not absolute, contemptible quitters if they do not see the game through."

The president defended the Shantung provision as the only solution possible by which China can be assisted in her effort to regain control of Shantung province.

Analyzing article 10 of the league covenant, he said the league council could only advise and could not do that without concurrence of the American members. The idea of revolution, he asserted, was scrupulously preserved.

ACTORS' STRIKE ENDS IN GOTHAM

Differences Satisfactorily Adjusted—Fred Wilson Announces—Theatres Will Reopen at Once.

New York, Sept. 6.—The actors' strike which began about a month ago, and after closing the majority of legitimate theatres in New York, spread to other cities was settled early today. All theatres affected by the strike will be reopened at once.

The settlement followed a four-hour conference between producing managers and representatives of the Actors' Equity association and other labor organizations of theatre workers.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright, chairman of the mediation committee of the Actors' League of America, stated that the open-shop had been agreed upon. Francis Wilson, president of the Actors' Equity association, said that all differences had been settled to the satisfaction of both sides. A statement, he said, would be issued during the day setting forth the terms of the agreement.

The termination of the strike came directly after the organization of stage hands and moving picture operators had been organized, and the actors' association had been organized with the American Federation of Labor.

The new Actors' Fidelity League, organized since the strike began by Geo. M. Cohan, in an attempt to force the equity association to accept the actors' terms, was dissolved in the final conference and agreement. It was intimated that the Fidelity would soon disband, since the striking actors refused to recognize it.

Paris, Sept. 6.—Dispatches which reached the peace conference from Vienna indicated that the Austrians probably would formally decide tomorrow to accept the peace. Chancellor Renner is expected to return to Paris immediately, when the peace treaty will be signed Wednesday morning September 10 at St. Germain.

NORRIS' SPEECH IS SATIRICAL

Plays Shantung Agreement In Allegorical Story—Ridicule Wilson's Visit to Paris Peace Conference.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, speaking in the senate today on the claim of China to Shantung, said the president would not tell the facts regarding the disposition of that province "because it would cast a reflection upon the peace conference."

Supporters of the administration, he said, "dare not because it would incur the displeasure of their great leader, so the senator announced that he would himself relate the story of the 'troubled community.'"

In narrative form that usually begins "once upon a time," Senator Norris told the story of punishing Bill Kaiser, a speech, which never was changed from its allegorical style, nations were referred to as individuals. Germany was styled Bill Kaiser; Japan, Mr. Jap; Great Britain, France and Italy, as John Bull, Mr. French and Mr. Italian respectively, while the United States was named Miss Columbia.

Bill Kaiser, pictured as a husky fellow who trained himself in the use of force, was the idea of despising his neighbors, the senator said, forcibly took the Shantung farm from John Chinaman and how later, when the other members of the community were engaged in punishing Bill Kaiser, Mr. Jap, taking advantage of Bill Kaiser's preoccupation in other fields, seized the property. The senator's story of the sitings of the peace conference included a satirical account of the journey and methods of Miss Columbia, one who "possessed a beautiful voice and had a wonderful command of language," adding that "she surpassed by far the greatest of her sex in her ability to talk."

Senator Norris declared that China had greater cause for complaint against the United States than any of the other judges. For the seizure of Shantung makes it impossible for China to bring products from other parts of the country without submitting to the rule and regulations that may be imposed by Japan.

SAYS ARBITRATION SHOULD BE USED INSTEAD OF FORCE

President Wilson Declares League Accomplishes This Fact.

SENATE ACCEPTED PRINCIPLE IN OTHER TREATIES APPROVED

Asserts It Is Ridiculous To Claim League Tends to Cause War.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6.—President Wilson appealed to a Kansas City crowd today to support the peace treaty as a charter for a new order of world affairs.

Making his third speech for the treaty in Missouri to a capacity audience, President Wilson spoke in Convention hall, said to accommodate 15,000. When the president, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, appeared on the platform, of the vast auditorium, the crowd, each with a small American flag, arose and cheered for more than two minutes.

President Wilson had been cheered as the presidential party paraded through four miles of the city's streets to Convention hall.

In his address the president covered many of the same points of the treaty he had discussed in previous addresses. He said he had come to report to the people direct about one of the greatest documents in human history. The treaty, he declared, was "shot through with American principles but there is by the common consent of the world."

One of the things America had done in her heart throughout her whole existence, said the president, was the arbitration and consultation should be substituted for force. This was accomplished, he declared, by the League of Nations covenant.

Nine months of discussion of any international controversy would be assured under the covenant, he asserted, adding that the principle previously had been written into thirty arbitration treaties, "all of which were confirmed by the United States senate."

The principle of the league, he declared, already had been adopted by the United States. The boycott imposed on covenant breakers, was emphasized by the president as constituting a measure more effective than military force. The "most conclusive" thing that could happen to a nation, he continued, was "to be read out of decent society."

Effective disarmament would be accomplished under the covenant, Mr. Wilson predicted, declaring it was ridiculous to talk of the league as tending to war when "its whole essence" is arbitration and peace. The league, he declared, would mean the end of the "military club" throughout the world forever.

"There is no other way to dispense with great armaments without an agreement by the great nations of the world," said Mr. Wilson. "And here is the agreement."

CAR GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

ATHERTON DIES

Lungs and Heart Crushed When Body Is Pinned Between Car Seat and Boulder.

Harry Atherton, aged 32, was instantly killed Friday, shortly after midnight, when the machine in which he was riding overturned, three miles east of the Lutheran church turn on the Linville pike.

According to information received, Atherton, Ben Harrison, owner of the car—a Dodge—called at the home of Oscar Dorn, South Morris street, a brother-in-law of Atherton. They left there about 10 o'clock and spoke of taking a ride.

Later, they picked up James Farabee and a seaman named Toban, who is visiting here. They escaped without injury, except one man has a sprained ankle. The party was driving toward town, the car being in the back seat, was pinned between the rock and the back seat.

The other men were able to crawl from under the car and Harris called each one name, but Atherton did not answer. They then hurriedly went to work and with the aid of some farmers nearby, jacked up the car to get Atherton from under it. He was dead when taken out.

Frank Tandel and another young man who was coming from town taking some friends to their homes nearby, took the three men to the city and Bazler's ambulance removed Atherton to the Rialto morgue. Evidently his lungs were crushed when the truck and car were pinned between the rock and the back seat.

The car which was held on the side of the bank by the rock had the top demolished and the windshield wiper broken. The car was an inspector for the B. & O. in the yards, lives at 234 Race street. His wife and three small children survive with his father, James Atherton, and brother, Raymond of South Morris street.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

4000 ARMED MEN SEEK TO FORCE UNION DEMANDS

Refuse To Listen To Appeal Made By Governor of West Virginia.

WOULD COMPEL OPERATORS TO UNIONIZE MINE LABOR

Report Reaches Charleston That Machine Guns Await Marchers.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Five hundred miners who left Oak Grove this morning to march across the mountains to Coal river, where they said they intended to enforce unionization in the mines, were joined at Racine on the Little Coal River by 3,000 more men, according to word received by Governor John Cornwell, shortly before noon. All of the men are said to be armed.

According to information received from a local coal operator, the coal operators of the Guyan field yesterday unloaded a car load of machine guns at different places in Logan county as a means of preparation to meet the miners from the Kanawha and Coal River fields.

W. M. Petry, vice president of district 17, United Mine Workers of America, said 4,000 armed miners were on the march. Mr. Petry said the men had refused to listen to the governor's appeal last night that they return to their homes, and he predicted trouble at Coal River "unless the miners demands are granted." He estimated the marchers were being joined by a force of 25,000 men when they reach Logan county.

The march toward the Logan fields followed a big demonstration at Oak Grove near Marmet, on Cabin Creek, last night, in which nearly five thousand miners, many of them armed, met for the purpose of completing plans to go into Logan county to force the acceptance by operators there of the right of their employees to form a union. The march went forward today despite the efforts of Governor Cornwell in a personal visit last night to the scene of the demonstration and of the mine workers' officials, who ordered the march back to work.

Gov. Cornwell without escort went on the miners' camp and pleaded with them to desist in their intention and to await results from what he could do. On top of a truck used to haul provisions, surrounded by hundreds of miners, the moonlight glinted on the rifle barrels of the men, Governor Cornwell asked the miners if American citizens, free American citizens and preserve order. He did not ask them to disband and return to their homes, but informed them that he would do all in his power to aid them and that he had called a meeting of operators and mine officials to discuss a charge that the miners were refused permission to organize at Guyan.

The governor told them further that he had sent troops to the scene of the march to incite them to have been spread among Cabin Creek miners and that there was no verification of a report that miners had been shot down by guards at the Guyan mines and that women and children were being held there.

During the course of his appeal Governor Cornwell was interrupted frequently with cheers and at the conclusion of the address he departed amid volleys of rifle-shots fired by the men in his honor.

MAY ORDER OHIO TROOPS

Washington, Sept. 6.—Governor Cornwell last night telegraphed to Secretary Baker relative to this afternoon with Secretary Baker relative to the mine strike situation at Coal River.

Secretary Baker said the governor did not ask for troops, but reported the situation at Coal River in which 500 armed miners were marching today with the plan, it was said, of forcing unionization of the mines. The situation will be watched closely. In the event that troops are sent to the scene they probably will be ordered from Camp Sherman, Ohio.

MONUMENT TO MARK LANDING OF YANKEES

Bordeaux, Sept. 6.—A distinguished company of Frenchmen headed by the president of the republic together with many Americans from both official and civil life gathered today on historic Pointe de Grave, at the mouth of the Gironde River, fifty miles below this city for the laying of the cornerstone of a monument which will commemorate the entry of America into the great war. In addition to President Poincaré, the participants included Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Foch and United States Ambassador Hugh C. Wallace.

Today was the birthday of Marquis de Lafayette, and the monument will mark the place from which he sailed to America in 1777 and to which he returned five years later on board the American ship Alliance. It also will mark the spot where the first American troops to be landed in France left their ships in May 1917.

President Poincaré arrived here this morning on a special train being accompanied by Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Foch and Ambassador Wallace.

With Mr. Wallace were Rear Admiral Andrew T. Long, naval attaché and Captain John H. MacFadden, assistant military attaché, at the American embassy in Paris. Captain Melville Wallace, son of the ambassador also was a member of the party. Ten senators and 25 members of the chamber of deputies were the official representatives of the French parliament on board the train.

Deputy Demaur who with Senator Menier, has prepared a souvenir sketch entitled "from Lafayette to Wilson," said today that the sculptor, Barthelmé, who is designing the monument, will complete his work on the drawings in a few days and that the work of construction will proceed immediately.

SAYS ARBITRATION

ism, added the president, and the intrigue which has terrorized Europe for generations, would be ended. He declared that "democracy will sooner or later have to destroy that kind of government, and if we don't do it now the job will still be before us."

This task, he continued, must be carried to the extent that no minority anywhere could control the majority.

"The men who now control the affairs of Russia," said Mr. Wilson, "represent nobody but themselves. They had no kind of a mandate. There are only 34 of them. I am told, there is a closer monopoly of power in Moscow than there ever was in Wilhelmstrasse. And a man more cruel than the czar is controlling the destinies of that people."

"And if we don't want little groups of selfish men to plot the future of Europe, then we must see to it that little groups of selfish men do not plot the future of the United States."

Citing condition in Armenia, Mr. Wilson said "he wondered that men do not wake up to the moral responsibility of what they are doing" when they were "debating and debating" while tragic situations waited to be dealt with as soon as the debating was over.

Hope for "every people in the world that haven't got what they think they ought to have" was seen by the president in the league provision which empowers one nation to call friendly attention to what it thinks is an injustice inside another nation. Every such people, said he, would have a "world forum" in which to present its case.

The people, said the president, had been misled about the treaty by men who look at it "with the jaundiced eyes of those who have some private interests of their own."

When the men were "glibbed" by public opinion, he said, "they will regret that the glibber is so high."

"If anybody dare to defeat this great instrument," he continued, "then they will have to gather together their counsellors for the world and do something better. I say it is a case of put up or shut up. A negotiation will not save the world."

The president said some men opposed the treaty conscientiously and he would take off his hat in the presence of any man's conscience. But these men, he added, based their opposition on ignorance "on what was in the treaty."

Germany, said the president, would be the only great nation left out of the league, "unless we decide to stay out and come in later with Germany."

Alluding to the American promise to set the Philippine Islands free, Mr. Wilson said, the league would solve the "very perplexing" problem of how they were kept free after their independence had been granted. Mr. Wilson said he could imagine shades of the fathers looking on with astonishment "that the American spirit has made a conquest of the world."

"I tell you," he added, "the war was won by the American spirit. And America in this treaty has realized what those gallant boys fought for. The men who make this impossible or difficult will have a life-long reckoning with the men who won the war."

The president asked the audience not to think he had come out to "fight or antagonize" anybody. "I have the greatest respect," he said, "for the senators of the United States. But I have come out to fight a cause that is greater than the senate and I intend to fight that cause, in office or out, as long as I live."

In his address Wilson said: "I came back from Paris, bringing one of the greatest documents of human history. One of the things that made it great was that it was penetrated throughout with the principles to which America had developed."

"I discovered that what we considered American principles has penetrated to the heart and to the understanding, not only of the great peoples of Europe, but to the hearts and understanding of the great men who were representing the peoples of Europe."

"I think that I can say that one of the things that America has had most at heart throughout her existence has been that there should be substituted for the brutal processes of war the friendly processes of consultation and arbitration and that is done in the covenant of the League of Nations. I am very anxious that my fellow citizens should realize that that is the chief topic of the covenant of the League of Nations, the greater part of its principles."

"There was another thing that we needed to accomplish, that is accomplished in this document. We want disarmament and this document provides in the only possible way for disarmament, by common agreement. Observe, my fellow citizens that just now every great fighting nation in the world is a member of this partnership except Germany and inasmuch as Germany has accepted a limitation of her army to 100,000 men, I don't think for the time being she may be regarded as a great fighting nation."

"But there was something else wanted, that is accomplished by this treaty. We wanted to destroy autocratic authority everywhere in the world. We wanted to see to it that there was no place or world where a small group of men could use their fellow citizens as pawns in a game. The most startling thing that developed itself at the opening of our participation in this war was not the military preparations of Germany, but her political preparations, to find that every community in the civilized world was penetrated by her intrigue."

The German people did not know this, but it was known at Williamstrasse and Wilhelmstrasse was the master of the German people as well as the rest of the world.

"To reject that treaty is to impair one of the first charters of mankind, and yet there are men who approach the question with passion, with private passion and party passion, who think only of some immediate advantage to themselves or to a group of their fellow countrymen, and who look at the thing with the jaundiced eyes of those who have some private purpose of their own."

"I would not have you think I am trying to characterize those who conscientiously object to anything in this great document. I take my hat off in the presence of any man's genuine conscience."

"I have no intolerant spirit in the matter, but I also assure you I have got a fighting spirit."

"And if anybody dares to stop this great experiment, then they must gather together the counsellors of the world and do something better."

"If there is a better scheme I for one will subscribe to it."

"It is a case of 'put up or shut up.' Negotiation will not save the world. Opposition constructs negotiation. Opposition is the specialty of those who are Bolshevistically inclined."

"Again I assure you I am not comparing any of my colleagues to Bolshevists; but I am merely pointing out that the Bolshevistic spirit lays every elimination of constructive opposition."

Telephone Service.

About all that is bought and sold in this world is service. We measure in bushels, pounds and kilowatts; sometimes in years, months and weeks. But in the last analysis it is service that we buy and a service that we sell. Especially is this so as to the income and outgo for the home. The husband performs service in the factory, store or office; the wife in the daily routine of the home. Together they render service to others and to each other.

Of all the tools for service used in the home none is more necessary these days than the telephone. It is easy to see that it is service and service only that is bought when a telephone bill is paid.

It is not boasting, but stating the simple fact, when this company points out that it is giving top-notch, 99 per cent telephone service. There is some pride, it is true, in being able to say this and say it honestly, but after all that is what we are here for; in other words we are doing no more than we should and no less than we desire to do and to continue to do.

We will continue as long as the city officials let us. And by the way these city officials are the servants of the people of Newark just as we are.

A SHOCK TO THE COUNTRY

SENATOR HITCHCOCK CHARACTERIZES SENATOR KNOX'S ATTACK ON PEACE TREATY.

INSANE FOREIGN POLICY

Amendment Or Defeat of Treaty Would Be Commercial and Financial Disaster for America, Says the Nebraska Senator.

Washington, D. C.—(Special.)—Declaring that any amendment to the treaty of peace, good or bad, reasonable or unreasonable, means the defeat of the treaty with all its disastrous consequences, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska made a powerful speech in the senate today urging that the treaty be ratified without delay and without amendment.

Referring to the recent speech of Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, who voted against the Shantung amendment in the foreign relations committee, Senator Hitchcock said:

"He has shown that the proposed amendment instead of helping China deprives her of the benefit of the promises and concessions the United States has exacted from Japan. He has shown that Japan is already in possession of the German rights, privileges and leaseholds. He has also shown that Great Britain and France are under pledge to Japan to stand by her in her claim, and he has challenged the supporters of the proposed amendment to show how China can possibly be benefited unless, when we reject Japan's promises, we propose to go to war with her and drive her out of Shantung for the benefit of China.

"I think the senator from North Dakota conclusively demonstrated the folly of the proposed amendment as far as it concerns China and the danger that it involves to the United States."

Senator Hitchcock then explained the inevitable results if the senate should vote in favor of the Shantung amendment or any other. He said that one of two things would happen—either the president would refuse to go further with the treaty or he would have to submit the amendment to the nations associated with the United States in the war.

"Does anyone believe," asked the senator, "that the other nations would accept the Shantung amendment?" He pointed out that Great Britain has already ratified the treaty and is under pledge to Japan with reference to Shantung; that France is soon to ratify the treaty and is under the same pledge to Japan.

"Does anyone suppose that Japan herself would submit to such a humiliation before the eyes of the world?" asked Hitchcock. "The answer is simple," he asserted. "We would find ourselves out in the cold, isolated from the rest of the world."

"What, then, will the United States do?" What will those American statesmen propose who stand for this method of killing the treaty? Some of them will say that congress can pass a joint resolution declaring a state of peace with Germany. Others say the United States can negotiate a separate and independent treaty with Germany. Those who talk this way evidently have no conception of the enormous benefits and advantages which the United States derives from this treaty which we wrung from Germany at the cannon's mouth. Neither have they any conception of the difficulties involved in negotiating a new treaty with Germany to establish the treaty of peace and settle the controversies of the war.

"To my mind, it would be suicidal for the United States to throw away the advantages and benefits provided in this treaty. It would be disastrous commercially and financially. It would put us at an enormous disadvantage in our international relations not only with Germany but with those nations we would thus desert. They would remain bound together by ties of mutual interest. They would enjoy the benefits of the treaty and would not be slow to take every advantage of them. They would resent our desertion.

"Up to this point, I have discussed the possible defeat of the treaty by means of proposed amendments to it. That is the real program and hope of the majority of the committee on foreign relations. It is for that purpose that the treaty has been locked up in cold storage for so many weeks. The enemies of the league of nations in the senate are not many compared to its friends, but they control the committee. They have felt justified in retaining the treaty in the committee, holding useless hearings and making killing amendments with the full knowledge that amendments would beat the treaty just as effectively as a refusal to ratify.

"A few, a very few, senators have declared that they would vote against the treaty because of the league of nations, but it has remained for the senator from Pennsylvania (Mr. Knox) to declare boldly against our participation in the treaty settlement.

"To say that he has amazed the country is to put it mildly—he has shocked the country.

Strangely enough, after months of time and a number of speeches in which his attack on the treaty has been on account of article 1, which contains the league of nations, he now takes a new position. He formerly favored taking the league of nations out of the treaty and ratifying the peace settlement with Germany. Now he suddenly changes front, declares in favor of deserting the nations associated with us in the war and advocates an unconditional peace or a negotiated peace with Germany.

"Was there ever a more insane international policy proposed? The mixture of politeness and folly it is difficult to see which predominates Senator Knox goes the limit. He not only proposes that we desert our friends and abandon our obligations, but he suggests that we release Germany from all promises of indemnities and reparations.

"Why not go further and propose that we compensate Germany? That would be a still stronger appeal to German sentiment."

Senator Hitchcock said that he had full faith that the treaty would receive different treatment in the senate than it has in the foreign relations committee. "In the senate," he said, "there are few men who favor deserting the cause of civilization until the victory in the field has been rendered permanent by a peace settlement with ample guarantees. In the senate are few senators who favor releasing Germany from all responsibility for the war, few senators willing to sacrifice the material interests of the United States which this treaty alone can protect."

In concluding what was, without doubt, one of the ablest speeches that has been made in the senate for ratification of the treaty without amendment, Senator Hitchcock said:

"I can not close without a few words on the league of nations feature of the treaty, which has been so persistently and unreasonably attacked in this chamber. To most of these attacks I have listened. They have varied somewhat, but they all have one characteristic in common—a tremendous exaggeration of possible disadvantages to this country.

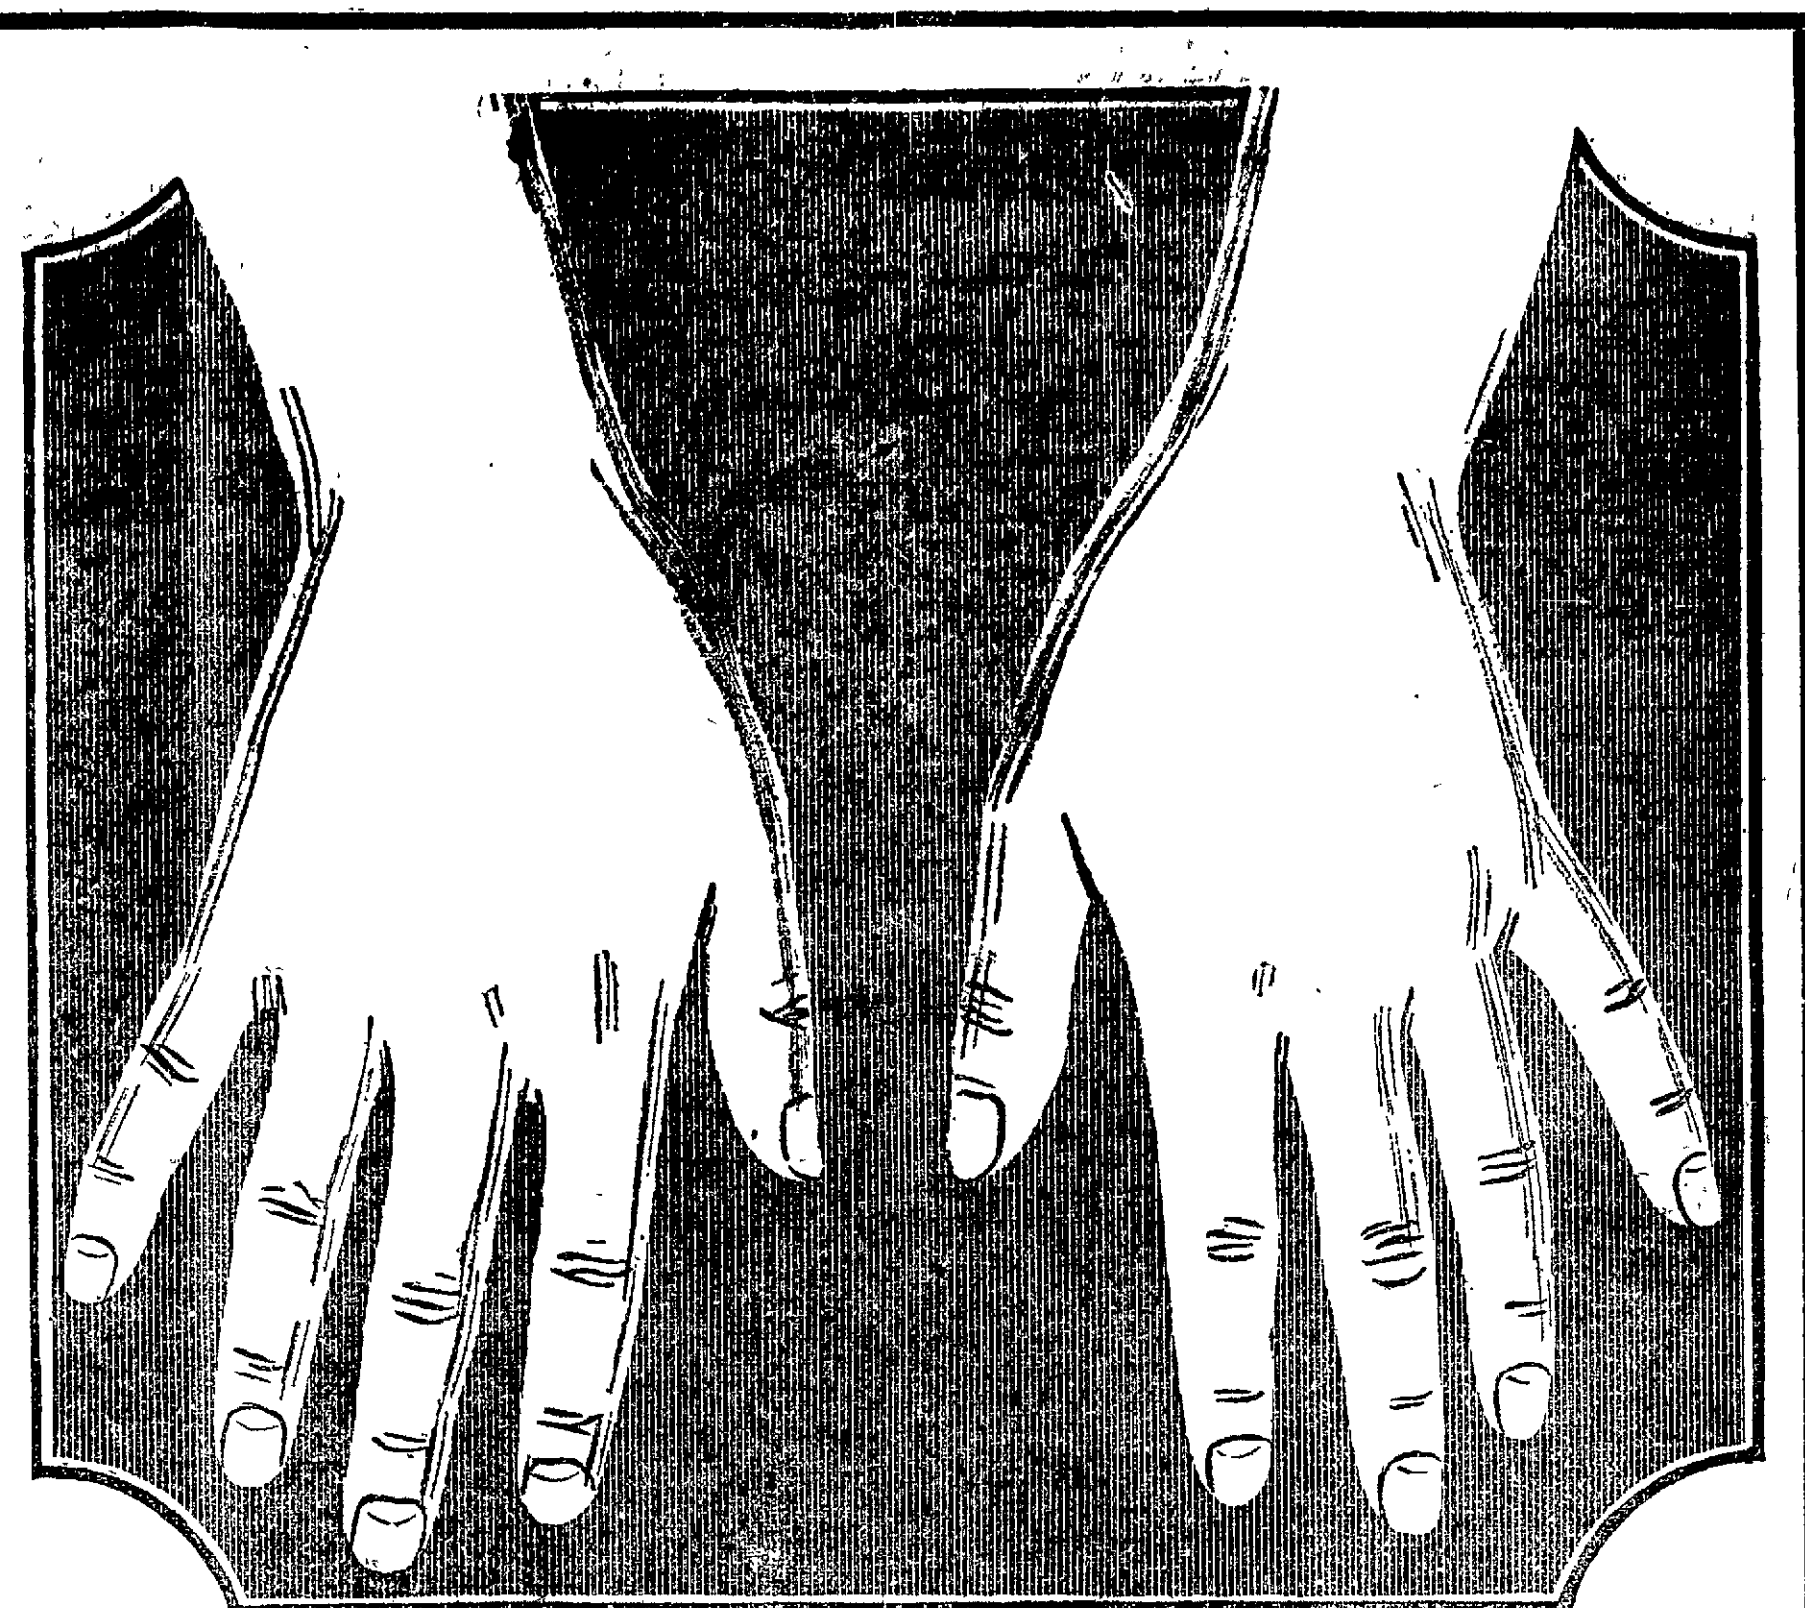

"Those who conjure up these possible disadvantages seem to ignore altogether the enormous advantages of organizing the world for peace. They appear to have lost sight of the horrors, evils and dangers of war while in the contemplation of possible disadvantages under the league of nations. They make mountains out of mole hills in reviewing difficulties in the league plan. They are suspicious that, while it may benefit every other nation on earth, it is so devised as to bring disaster to the United States. They crawl upon the ground with a microscope searching for pitfalls and are unable to look forward to the promised land of peace and order and justice to which the new movement leads."

Many Kinds of Capital.

Capital is merely something to work with. It is that something that sees that bills are paid. The idea is current that only a large bank account is capital. But we must never forget that brain, brawn and integrity are all capital. One man lives on the interest of his investments. The investments represent his capital. Another man lives on the income of his toil. His ability to earn is his capital. And some of the greatest enterprises known result from the combination of the two. The man of money puts cash into the venture and the man of ideas and industry puts his time and energy into it. Neither could do the task alone. Together they bring success. So you see character is capital because it works with money in attaining ends. And because it is what it is the bills are met and the working man is provided with the means of a livelihood.

Just Like the Peacock.

Although the American redstart is a little bird only five and a half inches long, it has one trait in common with the gorgeously plumbed peacock, namely, that it seems to be very fond of its handsome plumage and is continually spreading its tail feathers, says the American Forestry association, Washington. The male redstart, whose colors are red, orange and white, does not attain the black portion of its plumage on back, tail and wings until it is two years old, this part of the bird during its early life being strangely mottled. The female is grayish, yellow and white.

ORGANIZATION FOR PUBLIC.

It often happens that a small but compact and well organized group can control legislatures and congress, in opposition to the will of the silent and unorganized mass of the people. The politician feels the pressure of the small but active organization, and knows that if he votes against it he may lose the solid block of their votes.

He thinks that the rest of the people will forget about it before the election but frequently they don't.

It is interesting to see how the sentiment of congress so frequently changes after the congressmen have had a chance to go home and learn what their constituents really think. After talking with the people of their home districts, they find that there is a great silent mass of opinion not expressed through the active organizations agitating for their own special benefit.

There ought to be some way for the great mass of silent citizens to make their opinions more clearly felt. Some one suggests that an organization be formed of the general public, to represent the general community interest, which is so frequently ignored by those who are advancing some special interest. It would be a splendid idea.

However, lacking that, there is one very practical thing that the average citizen can do here in Newark. He can sit down and write to his representative and his congressman and his senator when attempts are made by small organizations to control public policy with a view to the interest of minorities. Public men are only too glad to learn what the rank and file of the people think about things. When the mass of the people come in closer with their legislators, the government will be less subject to the dictation of small but thoroughly organized minorities. Our United States senators are Allee Pomeroy and Warren C. Harding, our congressmen, William A. Ashbrook, our state senator William M. Miller and Licking county's representative in the state legislature is John S. Graham. The first three should be addressed. Washington, D. C., Senator Miller at Dresden and Representative Graham R. D. 3 Johnstown, Ohio.

President Wilson wore a straw hat during his visit to Columbus on September 4th. If the world's first citizen can ignore fashion's decree it's probably okay for the rest of us to use our summer hats for a little while longer.

However, one sign that the masses are advancing in this country is that a lot of 'em now are earning enough money so they can lose it in the stock market.

It is reported that the prompt and energetic senate reached a decision on one interrogation point and two commas in the peace treaty last week.

all street made money by putting the stock market up some weeks ago, and now it has made some more by putting the market down.

AROUSING AMBITION.

No matter what generous appropriations are made for the public schools, no matter how faithful the teachers, the results will be unsatisfactory unless the children put heart into their work. If they go over and over their lessons in a routine way, they will come through without any education worth the name.

The teacher may have to deal with a bunch of restless, wilful, and often turbulent children. But if those children can be inspired with a desire to be winners in life, they will in the main forget their kid tricks, and settle down to some solid work in the ten months of study now beginning.

School practice has developed various ways of arousing ambition. The offering of prizes is one of the most common. It is a useful thing to show the children that the community values good work and is disposed to reward it. Citizens do a splendid thing when they make even small gifts of money to be used as prizes for good scholarship.

However, as these prizes usually go to children who are studious by nature, and would do good school work anyway, they are far from solving the problem. Appealing to the spirit of competition was a method that the old time school adapted with much success. The idea of having the best speller stand at the head of the class and the poorest at the foot, was an old method of arousing ambition that showed a lot of knowledge of human nature.

Teachers and parents should make every effort to reason with children, and make them see how their whole future depends upon their making good use of the splendid opportunities given to the pupils privileged to attend the schools of Newark.

They should be constantly reminded that the boy and girl who makes good in school, is usually the same one who makes good in business and industry later on.

Those parents of Newark who complain because their children make no progress in school, are often the same ones who have a headache if asked to do any thinking.

The Germans say they will never pay their indemnity, which suggests that they may be getting a little more to eat than is good for their systems.

The predictions so freely made that articles are going to advance in price, very frequently come from those who have them to sell.

There are a great many people who are willing to abide by the decision of an arbitration board provided it is in their favor.

AN AMERICAN TREATY.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
President Wilson accepts the challenge of his opponents. He brings the case on behalf of the German treaty and league of nations to the people of America for decision. His address at Columbus, inaugurating a history making tour, is at once an argument and a defiance—a report of progress and an appeal for support.

It is clear thus at the outset that the president intends to evade no responsibility that may properly be his in connection with the treaty, nor does he propose to avoid discussing those points in which the interests of the United States may seem superficially to run in conflict with the interests of the conference table at Paris. On the contrary, Mr. Wilson makes it plain that his presentation will be plain, exhaustive and couched in terms which require no diplomatic training to understand.

As to the treaty in general—with a few outstanding exceptions—American opinion is reasonably unanimous. The point of disagreement, of course, concerns the league of nations. According to the president emphasizes in this initial address the compelling importance of the league; emphasizes how hollow an achievement the triumph over the central powers would certainly prove to be, were the senate of the United States now to veto this league of international amity.

The absolute sincerity of the President's appeal is evident in every sentence. Here is the man who headed America's delegation in the peace conference, the one American best qualified to tell the people of this country exactly what transpired at Paris, the often hostile motives that lay just under the surface, the conflicting interests that had to be harmonized as nearly as might be, the vast broad field of age old wrongs which needed righting, the millions of oppressed people to whom for the first time in their lives came now the dawn of a hope for better things.

There are Americans—some of them in the senate—who pretend to believe that this treaty is an European affair, that the United States is in danger of being victimized by friendly powers desirous of embroiling her in quarrels which are theirs, not hers. They forget, as the President suggests, how American this treaty is in essence. It was America which first gave currency to the doctrine that people should not be governed except by their own consent. And here for the first time in a great international compact the nations of earth, great and small, have set their hands and seal to precisely this American principle. The right of self-government is vouchsafed to nations which can never win the right by force of arms.

This is primarily a treaty of assurance to weak but deserving people. Nationalities long oppressed by conceited autocrats are freed by their yokes. Groups of liberty loving men and women, in whose hearts the torch of freedom has survived for generations despite the effort of their masters to extinguish it are freed at last. America has led in this, as upon the field of battle. In no small sense it is an American inspired, if not an American made treaty which the president asks the people of the United States to ratify through the upper house of congress.

Back of the treaty stands the league of nations. Without the league the treaty would be hardly more than an exercise in rhetoric. Its provisions could not be enforced. Its mandates would be toothless. Its purpose to

That Hesiod, next to Homer, is the earliest Greek poet of whom we have any knowledge? He was born, probably, in the 8th century B. C. at Ascra, in Boetia, where his father had gone from Asia Minor. He seems to have been at first a peasant or herdsman in quite humble circumstances; in his "Works and Days" he speaks of himself as "attunetos," "unhoned." He afterward left Ascra and went north to Orchomenos where he spent the remainder of his life and where his tomb is said to be.

Did You Know
That Hesiod, next to Homer, is the earliest Greek poet of whom we have any knowledge? He was born, probably, in the 8th century B. C. at Ascra, in Boetia, where his father had gone from Asia Minor. He seems to have been at first a peasant or herdsman in quite humble circumstances; in his "Works and Days" he speaks of himself as "attunetos," "unhoned." He afterward left Ascra and went north to Orchomenos where he spent the remainder of his life and where his tomb is said to be.

A Distinct Contribution
To Music
The fundamental acoustic principles of the pipe organ have been adapted to the phonograph in the Cheney Orchestral Chambers.
Those chambers in the organ pipes which have made the pipe organ so rich and full add their mellow sweetness to tones as the Cheney reproduces records.
It is a wonderful advance in the art of reproducing music. Connoisseurs assure us that the series of exclusive inventions embodied in the Cheney constitute the greatest improvement since phonographs were invented.
Surely they have placed the Cheney in a class apart with tones of unrivalled clarity and pureness.

Milady's BoudoirRemoving Sunburn and Tan.

Now that it is nearly the end of the bathing season, the summer resort woman begins to think of how she can rid her skin of the tell-tale marks inflicted upon her flesh during the days of warm sun and rolling surf on the bathing beach. She doesn't begrudge the good time she had, but she begins to give thought as to how she can possibly appear well in evening dress this fall and winter.

When you get home from the seaside, first give the face and neck and arms a good washing with fresh warm water and a bland soap, bathing the members for 10 or 15 minutes with very hot water if the sunburn is new. Follow this with a gentle massage, rubbing in sweet cream, cucumber and elder flower creams are especially adapted to the sunburned state of the skin, although their first use is only to reduce the inflammation and soften the flesh. After this bathing and greasing of the skin, wipe it off gently with a fresh, soft cloth and then apply a little of this lotion. Lactic acid four ounces, glycerine two ounces, and rosewater one ounce. Use this several times daily, applying with a bit of absorbent cotton.

Freckles must be treated in the same way as tan, with hot water packs, massage, cold creams and a freckle or bleaching lotion. Buttermilk and cucumber juice, mixed together, make a simple bleacher that anyone can afford, and if nothing else is handy, rubbing the skin with the cut side of a fresh cucumber will undoubtedly be beneficial. An exquisite cucumber milk, which is said to be a specific with sensitive skins for sunburn or freckles, and which is most useful for the roughness following skin injuries at the seashore or country, is made as follows: Oil of sweet almonds four ounces, fresh cucumber juice ten ounces, essence of cucumbers three ounces, powdered castile soap quarter of an ounce and tincture of benzoin two-thirds of a dram.

The Approach of Fall.

With the approach of the fall, when every girl wishes to look her best, especially in evening dress, it behooves each to start a little treatment that will perfect the arms, neck and shoulders. Of course the first thing is the color and texture of the skin, and equally important is to be rid of a bony and scrawny body, arms and hands.

Proper circulation—the first requirement toward improving the fullness of the neck. This is produced only by careful and patient massage and exercise. There are certain skin foods, among which cocoa butter is probably the most nourishing and reliable. Olive oil, too, is excellent and the best results are obtained by applying either of the above after heating them. It is a good plan to rub the warm oil or cocoa butter into the skin and leave it there for a length of time.

For whitening purposes, if after rubbing the oil and butter in, the juice of a lemon or some almond cream is applied, the effect produced is sure to be very pleasing. Naturally one cannot expect these wonders to take place overnight, indeed it takes time and depends entirely on how regularly the individual performer takes the treatment.

Exercise, too, is essential toward improving the fullness of the throat and rounding out the contour of the shoulders. Hold the shoulders up and back, the arms are bent at the elbows, throw the chest out and head erect. From the shoulders the fingers, hands and arms go forward as far as possible, then back to the original position and so on.

Probably the most restful movement one can take is done with the finger tips touching at the back of the neck, in this case the shoulders are held well back and the head thrown forward and backward, affording a movement that brings into play the muscles of the throat.

Overdoing

How American Women Break Down

Owing to the modern manner of living and the nervous haste of every woman to accomplish just so much each day, they overdo, and as a consequence develop ailments peculiar to their sex, as is indicated by backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, displacements and weakness.

Women who find themselves in this condition should slow down, and depend upon that good old fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to restore them to health and strength, for there is no other remedy known that so quickly restores a healthy, normal condition.

Here is the Story of a Most Remarkable Recovery

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night, and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old, and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from me, so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."

OHIO FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS(By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick, Director of Press)

With "the fire flame of autumn" rapidly advancing from every side members of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs forcibly are reminded that upon the dying embers they must build anew or complete if possible the work of reconstruction started by them last year.

For this reason if for no other every club in the state should have a delegate at the twenty-fifth annual convention which will be held in Cleveland, October 13 to 17. It will be the most important gathering of Ohio club women in many years. Plans will be laid for future activities that will appeal strongly to every woman.

The headquarters of the convention will be at Hotel Statler. Thousands of Ohio club women should attend from every section of the state. The convention will mark the silver anniversary of the federation and Cleveland club women have planned to make it a most notable event. Cleveland has always been conspicuous in club work and the Forest City will be more conspicuous this year than ever before. Of course, the big theme of all clubs now should be the silver anniversary convention and the state officials are emphasizing as never before the importance of it. The council meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, October 13, when all club and federation presidents should be present. The formal opening will be Monday evening. A delightful plan of entertainment has been worked out, but it is a secret, save to those in charge. Club women who attend will be agreeably surprised.

The call and credential cards will be sent out about September 13 or 15. The Ohio Federation of Women's clubs was formed twenty-five years ago at Springfield. More about the first organization will appear later. The Cleveland convention this year is a little earlier than usual for the reason the week of October 13 is the only week in October that the Cleveland federation can entertain convention delegates and visitors in a way suitable to the occasion.

Mrs. Prudence E. Rood, of Toledo, president of the Ohio federation, makes a strong plea for clubs to send their delegates prepared to pay all arrears on the loan scholarship fund. This closes the eighth year of the fund in which time it was to have been completed, the total fund pledged being $5,000. It falls short of that by a considerable amount.

Seventy-one clubs failed to answer notices asking for names of presidents and corresponding secretaries for the new club directory. If a "star" appears opposite the name of any club in the directory it will be the fault or the neglect of the retiring president and corresponding secretary, as notices were sent by Mrs. Rood to each.

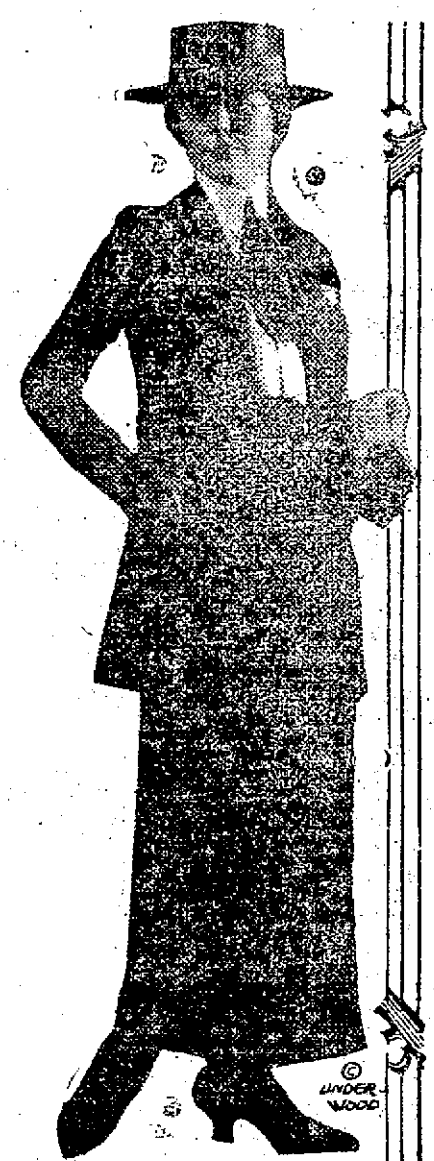

August 11 Mrs. Rood was at Chattanooga and spoke before the Chattanooga Women's clubs. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas and Mississippi were represented. Ohio had 225 members in the club. A strong effort was made by Ohio to catch up with the Keystone state, but we failed to do so, though we made a creditable showing.

Our Boys and Girls

Visits to the seashore or to the country, plays of all kinds in the yard of the house or at a neighbors, keep the vacation season well taken up by the little ones but with the first of September comes around the child's main thought is directed to school, and most of his day is spent in the schoolroom and at meals.

Yet now there is positive need for recreation, not for mere inaction out of school hours but for pleasant hours that will uplift physically and mentally. Now is the time for the mother's planning, and the evenings after school should be kept for her. For the real family evening there should be something planned in which all may join. And if that something will make everyone laugh heartily it will prove a real curative agent to bodies and disposition.

Music is always in order, especially if all join in the singing of good old

TAILORED COSTUME FOR BUSINESS GIRL

It is often necessary for the business woman to adopt a distinct tailored style and yet she does not want a suit which looks too mannish. Here is an exquisitely cut and fitted suit of a soft woolen material which does not wrinkle easily. It is smart and attractive and has a decidedly stylish air. The tailored blouse with its Roman stripes gives a bit of color to the costume and the plain banded sailor is in keeping with the rest of the outfit. She is perfectly groomed and ready for any occasion which the day may bring forth.

songs. After that might come some amusing games or stunts. Let the children have a crab race or a rooster fight or play games. Anything to interest and give amusement and exercise is good for such evenings.

Even the youngest of children prefer toys with which they can do things, and for the nursery there is nothing better than the frames which teach children constructive work. Nothing is better for this purpose than old slate frames. To either side of the frame is tacked a piece of stout cloth that will not readily tear. These should be slightly overlaid in the middle, and be provided with rows of buttons and buttonholes.

The buttons should be of different sizes on the different frames, ranging from shoe buttons, through the medium size used on underwear, up to the big ones usually fastened to coats. Another frame should have eyelets and laces. These latter should be firmly secured at the top, so they will not get lost or pulled out.

Another frame should have a row of bright ribbon firmly sewed to the top, and at intervals down the middle of the frame two ribbon ends, which are to be tied in a manner similar to the over, which acts as a sample. From these different boards the child gains his first idea of relative sizes and of color.

An automatic fire alarm invented in Europe is operated by the light of the flames when a fire begins.

Re-insulating a battery is about the most expensive repair there is.

And there's only one kind of battery in general use that isn't practically certain to be re-insulated—or junked—within the next year or two.

That one exception is the Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Wall Street.
New York, Sept. 6.—Light trading attended today's short session of the stock market, the uncertain tone being ascribed to latest aspects of the labor situation. United States Steel was under moderate pressure at an extreme decline of 1 5/8. Losses of 1 to 3 points were recorded by related issues, also equipments and rails. These were neutralized by gains of 1 to 3 points in oil, shippings and several of the motors and their subsidiaries. Dealings were of the usual week and character, consisting chiefly of the unsettlement of outstanding accounts. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 400,000 shares.
Reflecting latest labor conditions stock shares were moderately unsettled at the opening of today's stock market but a tendency otherwise was toward recovery from yesterday's depression. Motors and affiliated specialties were the strongest features of gains of 1 to 2 1/2 points. Oils were irregular. California Petroleum falling 1 3/8 while Mexican Petroleum gained 1 1/2. Shippings indicated a revival of the recent demand but rails lagged behind the general list. A firmer tone developed among leathers before the end of the first half hour.

Chicago Grain Review.
Chicago, Sept. 6.—Scarceness of offerings led to advances today in the corn market, especially for the September delivery. Opening prices ranged from 1 1/2c decline to an advance of 2c with Sept. $1.63 3/4 to $1.64 and Dec. $1.31 1/2 to $1.31 3/4 were followed by numerous fluctuations within a moderate range. September showing comparative firmness whereas December and March eased back.

Oats swayed with corn. After opening 3c off to a like advance including December at 71 1/4c to 72c the market underwent something of a sag. Provisions were governed chiefly by the action of grain. Lard when was scored at the opening failed to last.

Ray Caldwell in batting practice.
Ray Caldwell's recent comeback furnished two thrills for the fans Ray, pitching his first game for Cleveland, beat the Athletics 2 to 1, and held them to four hits. While he was pitching to Dugan, with two men out, a bolt of lightning struck in the ball park and Caldwell was knocked flat by it. He was unhurt, though, and after a brief rest finished the game, forcing Dugan to ground out.

ANNOUNCEMENT

M. R. SCOTT.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Clerk of Newark township on the general township ticket, there being no party nominations under the law and I will be glad to receive the votes of all persons who want to vote for me.
Concerning my "political" I am a Lincoln Republican and a Wilson Democrat. I believe in the "just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations" which was the vision and prophesy of the immortal Lincoln (under whom I served three full years in the Union army) as expressed in the closing words of his last inaugural address, spoken while the shadow of his martyrdom was over his head, "that the League of Nations which has been formed in Paris because it is the only means that has been proposed for fulfilling the vision of the great martyr, President and securing and maintaining the peace of the world, including that of the United States. Such, my fellow citizens, is my Americanism and my patriotism. And such is my view of the real 'independence' and the real 'sovereignty' of our great Republic and of its glory and honor among the nations of the earth."
M. R. SCOTT

ALHAMBRA Some Bride.

Owing to the wonderful success of Viola Dana's photoplay "Some Bride" in other cities, where it ran for a full week, Manager Fenberg has arranged to play it two days at the Alhambra instead of the usual one day showing.

V I O L A D A N A

"Some Bride" is said to be one of the best Metro pictures given Miss Dana, and in the cast of players are seen besides the star, that clever leading man Irving Cummings, who is known locally to many, Ruth Sinclair, Billy Mason, Florence Carpenter and others. The story: Nature has endowed Patricia Morley, a bride of a few weeks with "can't be have" eyes, which ensnare all men, a fact not at all to the liking of Henry her husband. The young couple are stopping at a fashionable California resort and one morning, while on the beach, Henry sees Patricia, in a smart though scanty bathing suit, on a raft in the bay with Tom Ruggles, a handsome young athlete. Henry is not the only observer for the two bathers are the sole topic of conversation to the gossips on the hotel veranda. Henry's jealousy grows and he complains of Patricia's flirting to her friend, Victoria French. Victoria tries to convince him that Patricia means no harm but Henry is furious. Day by day the couple drift apart. Patricia is having a wonderful time and Henry is convinced with a loud cry that he is attending an old-fashioned barn dance where kissing games are in vogue. Henry sees Tom kissing Patricia. Furious, he marches her up to their room. A stormy scene ensues and he accuses her of being in love with Tom and tells her that he intends to get a divorce.

Patricia replies that nothing would please her better. In her heart, however, she believes that he is only trying to threaten her.

What is her dismay on the following morning to find that he has left without a word of farewell. In tears she implores Victoria to help her. They decide that strategy is necessary. Victoria calls at Henry's office and announces that Patricia is critically ill at hospital and begs him to stop the divorce proceedings, which Henry promises to do.

Although supposed to be ill, Patricia rushes when she finds that a handsome young man is a patient in a room across the hall. Her irresistible desire to flirt overcomes her and she persuades a tired nurse to change places with her and allow her to take care of the sick man.

The sufferer happens to be Geoffrey Patten, Henry's lawyer and friend, and Patricia is amazed when Henry walks in as she is administering medicine and flirtation in the same dose. Patricia confesses everything to Henry, who forgives her and takes her home.

Happy once more they invite Victoria and Geoffrey, who are interested in each other to visit them. Henry, however, has not been cured of his jealousy and imagines that it is Patricia whom Geoffrey loves. He hires a woman detective to pose as a housekeeper and at the same time to watch his bride.

The woman proves to be the nurse with whom Patricia changed places at the hospital. She confesses why she is in the house and the two plot to cure Henry of his jealousy. Accordingly as Henry and his bride are leaving for the theatre that night, the nurse steps up to Henry and shows him some letters which she says are from another man to Patricia. Henry pleads business and stays behind.

Soon after Patricia returns and accuses Henry of flirting with the nurse. He retorts by showing her the letters, demanding an explanation. It is then that Patricia tells him of her scheme to cure him of his jealousy. He sees his mistake and promises never to doubt her again, deeming that he realizes that he has got "some bride."

As a special inducement, September brides and grooms are admitted free to the Alhambra during the two days showing. All that is required of them is to show license to doorman.

Jack Holt a Paradox. Jack Holt is a paradox. He can do either the most reprehensible of villainous or the most engaging of heroic without experiencing any particular difficulty in the transition. In "Green Eyes," the new Dorothy Dalton picture, which is shown at the Alhambra theatre last times today, Miss Holt is the husband, consumed by jealousy of his lovely young bride, but who is, with a forgiving and an honorable man, albeit proud beyond the limits of good taste even for a southerner. The new picture is declared to be the best to date starring Dorothy Dalton. A comedy is also seen.

A Fine Program. The Alhambra for Sunday has a most wonderful picture program, for besides the comedy "Among Those Present" in which Ford Sterling and other fun-makers are seen, The Pathé News and the Metro picture "Fools and Their Money," in which Emma Wehlen is seen. In "Fools and Their Money" Miss Mohlen as Louise Allenby is shown in a role that is delightful throughout—the story.

The Tompkins family owned no family tree and had no social aspirations until father Tompkins made millions in munitions—then then Father and Dick and Jane were content with their modest station in life but mother Tompkins had big ideas that went with the big money.

Her first strategic move was to buy the estate adjoining the Wyndham Alhambra—a family who occupied the innermost shrine of Smart Society. But her efforts to make their acquaintance were utterly futile. Late however, decided to take a hand in gaining the good woman her desires. Louise Allenby, the only and beautiful daughter of the aristocrats is alone at home with the servants—her parents having departed on a short trip. She meets Mrs. Tompkins one morning and the latter mistakes her for one of the Allenby servants. The delighted lady sees her opportunity for learning some of the ways of the people she envies and offers Louise the position as secretary in the Tompkins household.

Louise feels time hang heavy on her hands, and being willing for adventure, accepts.

Her entry into the Tompkins household marks a red letter day for the family and Louise continues to make each member feel the happier for her coming. Father Tompkins desires a good old fashioned corned beef and cabbage dinner—through her he gets it. Mother Tompkins would like the services of an exclusive modiste—Louise sees that she meets one. Jane is being annoyed by Cholly Van Dusen, a schem-

That patch of eruption is not necessarily a serious matter! Even in severe, well-established cases of eczema, ringworm or similar affections, Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap usually relieve the itching at once and quickly overcome the trouble completely. How much more, then, can this simple, inexpensive treatment be relied on to dispel skin troubles in their earlier stages.

Found "Asthma" Due to Stomach Trouble

Frank Wilson, of Wellston, Ohio, Gets Relief After Doctors Failed.

"For three years I went from doctor to doctor," says Frank Wilson of Wellston, O., "but none said the same. One laid my suffering to heart trouble, another to high blood pressure, a third to overflow of gall, but what they prescribed gave no relief. I had to give up my work for months. At night I had choking spells that caused my wife to fear I would choke to death. We thought it was asthma but found out it was gas on my stomach that smothered and choked me. Finally I got a box of Dr. Parker's Treatment for Constipation and Indigestion and received relief from the first dose. Rested fine that very night. I am now back at work after taking three boxes, eat any food, and am gaining in weight. It has given me back my health."

Dr. Parker guarantees his treatment to relieve you or your dollar back. Sold by your druggist. For sale by all druggists. Adv.

or who is after a share of the Tompkins' millions and by a method all her own Louise dismisses him, thereby gaining the gratitude of the family but incurring the enmity of Van Dusen who vows revenge.
Dick returns from college and soon learns Louise's real identity but he keeps the knowledge to himself. Discovering that it is the girl's habit to ride each afternoon he gets a job as groom in the Albany stables and is detailed to accompany the young heiress on her rides. It is not long before the two masqueraders find that they are in love with each other.
During the day, while Louise was in his home, Dick has been careful to keep out of her sight and it is not until further Tompkins shows her a picture of his son that she realizes the truth. Neither knows that the other is aware of their real identity.

In the meantime Van Dusen has not forgotten his desire for revenge and one evening seeing Louise take some jewels from the Albany safe, he has her arrested. The climax comes when the elder Allenbys arrive and the tables are turned upon the disgruntled Van Dusen.
Louise and Dick announce their love and Mr. Allenby declares that if she has found a real man that is all that is necessary. So in this manner Mother Tompkins wins her heart's desire.

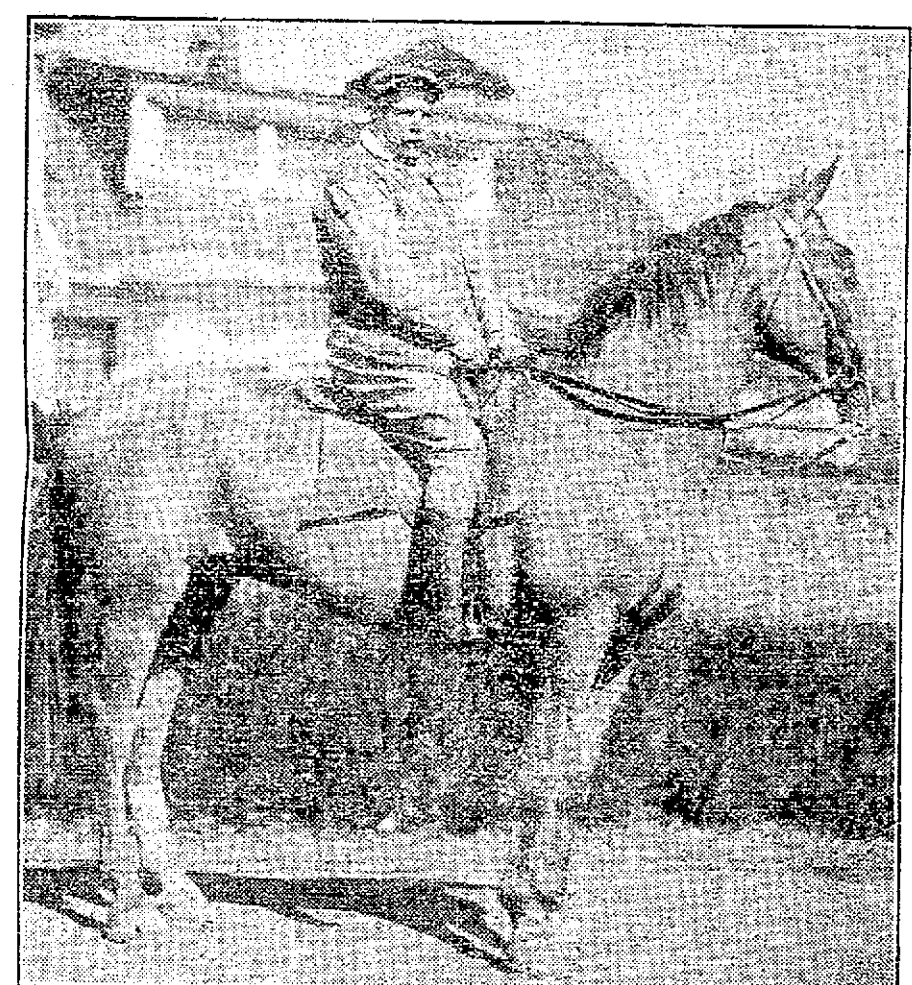

AUDITORIUM.
"The Million Dollar Doll in Paris."
The first musical show of the season is with us and will be seen at the Auditorium today, it being Harvey D. Orr's happiest of all musical comedies. "The Million Dollar Doll in Paris" by Louis Westly. This year Mr. Orr promises everything absolutely new and advertises a diamond mine of entertainment with three big acts which give 1,000 laughs, a car load of scenery, beauty, youth and folly entirely surrounded by girls, this being a continuation of last season's biggest success. "The Million Dollar Doll," Harold S. Orr as Jasper Jackson is another Al Jensen and if you miss seeing this attraction tonight, you sure will be sorry.
Last season Orr was the blackface comedian left a wonderful reputation, for he probably was one of the best and funniest comedians that appeared on the Auditorium stage during the season. In the third edition of "The Million Dollar Doll in Paris" he is said to have a part that suits him perfectly and has the opportunity to furnish no end of real blackface comedy. As we go to press the Auditorium is crowded with fails to make the most rabid and cranky "cuss" on earth to laugh.

The picture will be shown with special effects, exactly the same production as is now appearing at the Hartman theatre, Columbus, and with special music. The screenings Sunday are continuous, starting at 2:30 p. m.

He Likes "Mickey."
Mr. Fenberg is in receipt of the following letter from his good friend and brother Mgr. Harry Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa.:
"Nixon Theatre, Pittsburgh, September 3, 1919.
"George M. Fenberg, Mgr. Auditorium, Newark, Ohio.
"Dear George—I hear that you are to

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA AND HIS HANDSOME HORSE, PATRICIA CHARLEY
eager matinee fun seekers and no doubt the company will be greeted by a capacity house. The performance this evening will not commence until 8:45 o'clock thus giving the shoppers all the time they wish. Seats are selling rapidly and it would be advisable to secure them early and avoid the crowds at the box office.

"Mickey."
Coming direct from the Hartman theatre, Columbus, where it is playing this week to capacity audiences, "Mickey," probably the most widely known photoplay of recent years, opens tomorrow afternoon at the Auditorium theatre. No picture has received so much publicity, no picture has broken records as has "Mickey." For 12 solid weeks in the same theatre in Toronto "Mickey" held the city spellbound. For eight weeks at the Forest theatre in Philadelphia, "Mickey" again reigns. For five weeks at the Nixon theatre, Pittsburgh, a capacity was also the rule. And our neighboring city, Columbus, was held in the magnetic "Mickey" grip for three solid weeks.

Mack Sennett is responsible for "Mickey" and he chose to select Mabel Normand for the title role. And he could not have chosen better, for the most critical picture fans and professional critics have said that "Mickey" is positively the best thing in which Mabel has ever appeared or probably ever will appear in. There are many big scenes. Most prominent of which are: The big race in which the famous race horses participate, and is claimed to be the most exciting horse race ever screened; A mischievous bull dog; a score of animal actors, who take part in several scenes; a realistic fight in which one of the men is seen to fall have the wonderful picture "Mickey" at your theatre during fair week. Regarding this attraction I take this opportunity of writing you a few lines in regard to the phenomenal run made by "Mickey," the photoplay of gladness at the above theatre.

"I can assure you that even I was surprised at the wonderful business it did for five weeks, and with the hottest weather imaginable. The management is entitled to a lot of credit for the way they put the picture on, every detail was attended to and not one thing overlooked.
"I personally don't think that there ever will be a picture that will do the business that 'Mickey' did for the five weeks. It was certainly wonderful capacity business at every performance, and I could almost say at least 500 people turned away every night. There is no use going into details of what I think of the picture. The public of Pittsburgh told us what they thought of it by packing the theatre at every performance and we all know if there weren't a lot of merits to 'Mickey' it couldn't have stayed up like it did for five weeks. It's a picture any one would like and it is one picture that is clean and the whole family can see it. It is full of laughs all through and the picture, clean comedy and plenty of thrills. Of all my time in the show business I have never seen such large crowds of people have over a picture as they did over 'Mickey' at the same time the picture has plenty of comedy and thrills in it; it also has a wonderful love story.

"There is no doubt in my mind, George, that if 'Mickey' is handled right in your city that you will play to capacity daily. It sure was a very pleasant five weeks and I will wager you a new suit of clothes that you will want it back later in the season for another week. Now go to it, Mr. Hustler.
"Remaining with with the best wishes and hoping that both you and I soon will get our usual road shows, that are now stopped owing to the actors' strike in New York. Yours, etc.
"Harry Brown, Mgr. Nixon Theatre."

Howe's Pictures.
How would you like to fish for tarpon, the "gamest" thing that swims in the seven seas? If often takes two or three hours to land one, plus unusual dexterity in handling a special pole and reel and a line some 600 feet in length. To this must be added the skillful aid of a man who knows how to handle your boat. Imagine feeling a nibble, while an instant later a six-foot tarpon jumps 10 feet into the air and then rushes away from you at express train speed, while the line blisters and burns your hands. Some fishing! All the thrills of tarpon fishing have been caught by motion picture camera-men in Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Auditorium soon upon its silver jubilee tour.

Sousa's Band.
It has been remarked repeatedly, that notwithstanding the exaggerations of his imitators, Sousa is the sanest of the bandmasters of the generation. He eschews the meaningless and wholly theatrical mannerisms which are affected by so many other leaders for the sole purpose of attracting attention and eliciting comment. Sousa leads with an easy grace that seems to be a part of the music he is conducting, yet with a masterful precision which absolutely controls the wonderful body of musicians banded together in his name. The programs presented by Sousa and his band always contain something new, and we are wondering what special treat will be offered when they appear here soon at the Auditorium.

GEN.
George MacFarland never knew there were so many policemen until he made a bet that he could commit a crime and elude them for a year. When the bet was made, MacFarland forged a fake check, and left New York. After that it seemed that he couldn't look in any direction without seeing an arresting policeman. This is the opening of "Believe Me, Xantippe," the latest Paramount picture starring Wallace Reid, with Ann Little, and which will be shown at the Gem theatre Monday.

"The Midnight Man."
On Sunday the first episode, "Cast

Adrift" of "The Midnight Man," the latest and greatest of all moving picture serials will be thrown upon the screen at the Gem. This marvelous drama of love, mystery and adventure has for its leading character James J. Corbett. Corbett was a former heavyweight champion of the world.
Together with "The Midnight Man" and an L-KO Comedy Charles Ray will be shown in one of his best pictures. The "Big Four Orchestra" will also be on hand, using only the very latest music.

GRAND Today.
This afternoon and evening the Grand theatre is presenting the ninth episode of "The Perils of Thunder Mountain," the title of which is "Prisoner of the Deep." In addition there will be shown a two reel comedy "Fares and Fair Ones" and a Harold Lloyd comedy "The old stage door." This program is for one day only.

Mitchell Lewis.
Tomorrow and Monday at the Grand will be presented a Select Picture Corporation film entitled "Children of Banishment," with Mitchell Lewis and a superb cast. In addition there will be shown the second episode of "The Great Gamble" featuring Anne Luther and Charles Hutchinson. Fatty Arbuckle will be seen in one of his splendid comedies.

LAFAYETTE DAY IS OBSERVED IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 6.—Ambassador Jusserand of France was the principal speaker at Franco-American exercises held here today in New York's History hall in commemoration of the 152nd anniversary of the birth of Lafayette and the fifth anniversary of the first battle of the Marne. Amid the impressive services, messages of felicitations and congratulations upon the victory of the allied arms, which had been brought to pass since the last celebration by the Lafayette Day national commission, were read from President Poincare of France, General Pershing, Major General Wood and Secretary of State Lansing.

Representatives of a number of foreign governments were present at the ceremonies which were held in the Aldermanic chamber. Other speakers were Mayson T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio, and former United States ambassador to France, and Dr. John H. Finley, state commissioner of education.

In the afternoon services were held at the Lafayette monument in Union Square, which were participated in by the Society of the Cincinnati, Sons of the Revolution, G. A. R., Society of the Colonies War and Patriots of America.

COBB ABOUT TO COP 13TH TITLE

Lads American League Hitters By 21 Points, Figures Show — Cravath Still Leads Nationals.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—As the clubs of the American League swing into the final month of the pennant race, Ty Cobb is driving for the batting championship, which with the exception of two seasons, has been in his possession for 12 years.

Unofficial average release today show the celebrated Georgia hitter leading 21 points ahead of Oscar Veach, his teammate, and closest batting rival. In 104 games, Cobb has whaled out 155 safe blows for a total of 210 bases. Thirty of Ty's hits went for two bases, while 11 were of the three-bagger variety and one home-run. The average include games of Wednesday.

"Babe" Ruth tied the world's record for home-run hitting, established by Buck Freeman with 28 homers in one season. Ruth tops the league in total base-hitting according to the figures up until Thursday morning. He has stretched 118 hits, bagged in 111 games, for a total of 240 bases. His home-run record is topped off with 26 two-base hits and a dozen triplets.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, continues to show the way to the base-stealers with 27 with Harry Hopper of Boston, running up with 25. Eddie Collins of Chicago, is third with 24. Chapman of Cleveland, is the leading sacrifice hitter with 43.

Other leading American League batters for 40 or more games: Jackson, Chicago, 348; Sisler, St. Louis, 345; Peckinpaugh, New York, 340; Jacobson, St. Louis, 334; Fewster, New York, 325; Shorten, Detroit, 319; Ruth, Boston, 318; Heilmann, Detroit, 317; Collins, Chicago, 315; McInnis, Boston, 315.

Ed Roush, the Cincinnati star, suffered a setback in his attack for the National League batting honors, dropping into third place with an average of .323. Cravath of Philadelphia, clung to the leadership with .340, while Thorpe of Boston, swung back into second place with .324.

Roush, however, leads the league in total base-hitting. Competing in 116 games, the Reds' outfielder has slammed out 143 hits for a total of 193 bases. Heinie Groth, the Cincinnati third baseman, leads in scoring, having registered 75. Cuthshaw of Pittsburgh, continues to show the way to the base-stealers with 31. In home-run hitting, Cravath is out in front with 11, while Williams of Philadelphia, and Kauff of New York, are tied for second with nine each.

Other leading National League batters for 40 or more games: Meusel, Philadelphia, 318; Groth, Cincinnati, 311; Doyle, New York, 302; Young, New York, 301; Myers, Brooklyn, 290; Deal, Chicago, 289; Barber, Chicago, 289; Stock, St. Louis, 287; McHenry, St. Louis, 287.

George of Columbus, suffered the biggest hitting slump among the leading batters of the American Association. He dropped from eighth to eighteenth place, his average falling from .316 to .292. There was little change among the other leaders, who continue to be topped by Hendryx of Louisville, with .349. Becker and Good, Kansas City teammates, are giving Hendryx a run for the batting honors, as they are in second and third place, respectively, with marks of .340 and .339.

Miller of St. Paul, who last week broke the tie for home-run honors, has added another circuit drive to his string of 14. He also is far in front in total bases with 259. Miller of Kansas City, has registered 90 runs for his club, and leads in this department. Bob Bescher of Louisville, with his 41 stolen bases, is far ahead of his rivals.

Other leading association batters for 45 or more games: O'Mara, Indianapolis, 436; E. Miller, St. Paul, 322; Leary, Indianapolis, 322; Hyatt, Toledo, 319; W. Miller, Kansas City, 312; Erief, Kansas City, 310; Kirke, Louisville, 308.

Why the Children Want More Cereal

I AM putting a creamier, richer milk on the children's corn flakes and cereals now—they say the taste is much better—and they always come back for more. That's the proof.

You see, I found out that those shiny tins of Every Day Milk are just twice as nourishing as dairy milk—and twice as rich in cream—at much lower cost.

You don't know, unless you have tried it, how good Every Day will make your cereals—how fresh and creamy. Because it tastes so good, because it is so rich, so nourishing, and yet it costs so little—because it makes you independent of ice man and milk man—Every day use Every Day.
